

Comparison-Athens

In March 1970 Gail and I had an afternoon in Athens and visited some of the famous sites. In October 2016 we also had an afternoon for our visit. In both occasions we went to the Acropolis. On the path to the top is a large amphitheater. I did not notice any significant changes in its structure, though rear buildings and trees differ.

The small cubic temple first encountered on the way to the top was dismantled and restored between our visits.

In 1970 we could walk within the large Parthenon. In 2016 access was denied because of restoration activity.

These places were not on our tour in 2016, so I only had remote views for comparison.
