

Next Days Tuesday morning was wet after night rain and present drizzle. The ground was somewhat muddy. We changed our table arrangements and did our education demonstrations before those waiting.

Morgan and Joy at education explaining proper nutrition

Lizzie explaining respiratory health

Ellie and Lizzie demonstrating stretching

Miranda at triage

Jessica at triage

Two local doctors. Brian at pharmacy.

Second local doctor

Brian and Daniel at pharmacy

Checking vision for glasses

Ellie passing out standard pills

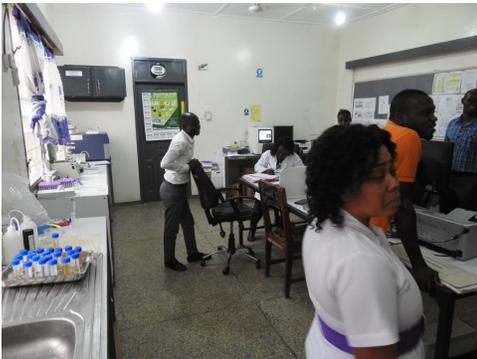

Michael arriving with local meds supply

Kids, wounds, Michael, Ellie, Irene, Morgan, Amethyst

Local hospital leaders visited us Monday so we visited the hospital Tuesday PM Emergency entrance lab

pharmacy

storeroom

The New Abirem Government Hospital is strongly supported by the government, Newmont, and Project C.U.R.E.

Wednesday clinic setup

Lizzie, Ellie, Morgan loading pill packets

Joy and Morgan explaining nutrition local doctor

Amethyst, Joy, Michael at glasses

Jessica and Miranda at triage

Kids and Morgan

Ellie treating wound

Irene treating wound

Many were waiting for us on Thursday including the village Chief who lead his people through the clinic

Daniel at triage

Ellie at triage

Miranda and Irene at pharmacy

When finished we celebrated our new friendships with lots of hugs and photos. It was very good that we worked with the same team of local nurses for all four clinic days.

On Friday we visited the Newmont Mine headquarters (not the mine), then drove back to Accra and visited the James Town historical area.

Newmont's Akyem mine

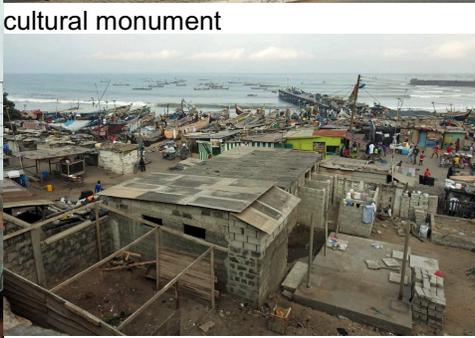

cultural monument

walking the streets lighthouse

harbor, fishing village fishing boats

Dr. Ed Holroyd, 21 August 2018