

God gave our sand and gravel team safety as they worked at the narrow roadside by having a large truck get stuck blocking the road traffic for more than four hours while we poured the foundation concrete mix. (The local people stuck in their vehicles beyond the truck did not seem annoyed. These things happen.)

Satellite view at a prior date.

Gravel team at roadside.

Sand team at roadside.

Stuck delivery truck

Observers at roadside.

Our initial angle was not going to work.

Our final angle did not work either.

The Black Vultures watched us.

Moving sand.

Moving rock.

Eagerly moving it.

Late in the afternoon the big truck was freed.

Our piles were gone. We needed more rock.

More rock was found for us, and we finished the foundation.